Design rationale:

Keeping consistency with the overall design themes, I designed the cart page using the same typefaces, font sizes and button styles. The user will select the color and size of a product on the Product Details page, then they will select the quantity on the Shopping Cart page. This is because this website sells pet gear, which users are not typically buying in bulk, in comparison to pastries.

In addition, on the Shopping Cart page the user can also remove a product if they no longer want it, and go back to browsing products by clicking on the "Shop" link. This design maximizes user control and freedom since they still have the opportunity to change their mind.
